

Investment Objective and Strategy

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide long-term capital appreciation by primarily investing in listed equities with a China focus. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

The Fund seeks to achieve its objective primarily through exposure to companies established in China or those which, whilst established outside China, derive a significant proportion of their revenue or profits from business related to China. The Fund makes investments into companies that, in the Manager's opinion, have been undervalued by the market. There is no restriction on market capitalizations or industries in relation to the equity securities in which the Fund may invest.

Under normal circumstances, the asset allocation strategy is that at least 70% of the Fund's Net Asset Value will be invested in stocks of companies established in China or those which, whilst established outside China, derive a significant proportion of their revenue or profits from business related to China (including but not limited to investment in depositary receipts such as American Depositary Receipts), and, subject to an overall upper limit on onshore PRC exposure of 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value, up to 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value will be invested directly or indirectly in stocks listed in Shanghai (including stocks listed on the Sci-Tech Innovation Board (the "STAR Board")) and/or Shenzhen (including stocks in the ChiNext market and/or stocks listed on the Small and Medium Enterprise Board (the "SME Board")).

Fund Manager's Comment

The Hong Kong and China markets experienced continued correction in November, despite signs of a policy pivot from the Chinese government. The third-quarter 2024 earnings season proved to be the weakest in the past 13 quarters, with only a limited number of companies demonstrating strong post-results price performance. Meanwhile, market sentiment has been weighed down by growing impatience regarding the timing of China's economic recovery. Although valuations are more attractive, the opportunity cost of investing in China has driven capital flows back to the US market.

On the geopolitical front, the US election results have tilted in favour of Trump's party, raising concerns over potential tariff risks. Trump has indicated plans to impose a 10% tariff on Chinese goods as a priority if his team takes office on day one. We anticipate further developments on this front in the coming year, which could exert additional pressure on the Chinese government, particularly in managing its fiscal budget deficit.

At the time of writing, the Politburo and Central Economic Work Conference (CEWC) in December signalled an increased focus on consumption-driven support as a key driver for next year's economic growth. This renewed emphasis is more favourable than market expectations. However, we foresee continued earnings pressure over the coming quarters. The Two Sessions in March will be critical for investors to gauge China's medium-term outlook. We maintain a cautiously optimistic stance and advise a barbell approach, balancing defensive and growth stocks.
